

1-to-1 iPad News for College Tech Leaders

Download Here

Dear Sales Team,

According to a recent study, 94 percent of higher education institutions use the Apple iPad to enhance learning.

Many schools are seeing impressive outcomes in student achievement by rolling out a 1-to-1 iPad program that gives each student a personalized approach to their college experience.

For tech officers, coordinators and administrators, the keys for driving student success are revealed in 1-to-1 iPad Programs in Higher Education, a complimentary whitepaper available for download now.

In this timely report, you'll discover how schools are using 1-to-1 iPad programs to help students:

- Find the right balance of success and health
- Deeply engage with coursework and narrow the achievement gap
- Hone their career skills and job readiness

PLUS: When you download this report, you'll get best practices for setting up and managing a cost-effective 1-to-1 iPad program at your institution.

Schools that equip students with industry-leading tools combined with robust technical support will have an easier time acquiring and retaining students and their tuition dollars.

See how a simple investment in the right kind of 1-to-1 iPad program can lead to higher student satisfaction, increased recognition for your school, and generous alumni donations. Download your exclusive report now.

Sincerely,

The eCampus News Team

P.S. One school saved an average of $50,000 per semester by taking one important step with their 1-to-1 iPad program. What was that step? How much could your school save? Get the answers when you download this informative whitepaper now.