

This ULTRA-SAFE Advantage
Insulates Your Wealth and Puts
More Than $51,000 In Your Pocket
Starting 7 Minutes From Now

Dear Fellow Investor:

Your money is in jeopardy.

- The dollar has dropped almost 25% in value against the euro since January 2006, making everything from TVs to clothing more expensive.
- The average CD pays around 2.9% interest. Meanwhile, inflation has skyrocketed nearly 20% since 2001.
- Our houses are worth less. The average home price in 20 major U.S. cities has declined 10.7% during the past year.
- By March 2008, the S&P 500 stood at the same place it was in April 1999. Many investors are no better off now than they were nine long years ago.
- On February 5, the Dow plummeted 370 points -- the worst one-day percentage loss since February 27, 2007.

Everything we've worked for -- our standard of living, our security, our hard-earned gains -- is in peril.

But you can protect your money ... and even earn double-digit returns safely ... no matter how bad things get in 2008. In fact, you could easily put more than $51,000 in your hands starting in the next seven minutes.

You don't need fancy trading strategies. It doesn't involve options, hedge funds or other high risk schemes. It works with any amount of money you have.

I'm writing this letter to introduce you to this wealth building system and how you can use it to achieve airtight security and prosperity in 2008 and beyond.

Before I reveal this advantage, I want you to promise me that you'll keep an open mind and won't make a decision until you hear all the facts, ok?

Make Double-Digit Profits Safely... Starting Now

It's called Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter.

Simply put, Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter follows an ultra-safe strategy that has generated an annualized return of 20% every year for nearly 80 years in almost every kind of market.

It's the same strategy Warren Buffett uses to build his amazing fortune.

I want to start by giving you a rare wealth-building tool absolutely FREE. It's called 5 Top Value Stocks Every Investor Must Own in 2008. This alert contains my favorite undervalued stocks for the year.

In 5 Top Value Stocks Every Investor Must Own in 2008, you'll discover:

1. The telecommunications company that just signed an exclusive services provider deal. Earnings are shooting up, dividends put money in your pocket right away and it sells at a bargain price -- for now.
2. The wholesale pharmaceuticals distributor that's cashing in on aging Baby Boomers. It just increased its dividend by 20% and earnings are expected to increase 19% this year.
3. The #1 retail pharmacy in the U.S. Thanks to several major acquisitions, company earnings are expected to surge 18% this year.
4. This "overlooked" blue chip produces innovative products that drive earnings and market share. Accelerated growth in foreign countries will open up a money spigot that most investors will hear about too late!
5. An information technology giant that produced 12 consecutive quarterly increases in profitability. Strong demand from overseas has increased 61% with no slowdown in sight. Dividends are expected to rise handsomely in the next 12 months.

5 Top Value Stocks Every Investor Must Own in 2008 (a $25 value) is FREE. It's the best way to introduce Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter to you without cost or obligation.

Our Unique Strategy Gives Investors An "Extra" $51,000 With Less Risk

Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter is unique: It's the only advisory in the country that applies the fundamental principals developed by Benjamin Graham to stock picking.

Benjamin Graham, considered the father of value investing, taught his wealth-building secrets to Warren Buffett, Mario Gabelli and John Neff (among others) -- each of whom accumulated market-beating profits -- safely - year after year.

In the same way, Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter produces steady, above average returns -- with reduced risk --in undervalued companies that Wall Street misses time after time.

Now you're probably wondering: What do I mean by "above average" returns?

Here, let me share them with you. These are actual returns that readers of Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter saw in 2007 during a time when it was tough to make money in the markets:

Company	Gain	S&P 500 Gain	Holding Time
Ingersoll-Rand	33.8%	5.0%	12 months
Precision Castparts	43.9%	0.3%	6 months
Oracle Corp.	44.8%	16.0%	20 months
SEI Corp.	48.4%	19.0%	24 months
Colgate-Palmolive	51.0%	23.3%	25 months
Stryker Corp.	53.3%	25.9%	26 months
Apache Corp.	58.6%	19.0%	13 months
Danaher Corp.	62.9%	25.9%	26 months
Suntech Power	107.0%	-3.2%	2 months
JA Solar Holdings	173.7%	-0.2%	6 months

Of course, the real test of evaluating stock returns ... profits ...

If you had invested $10,000 in the S&P during this time, your gains would come to roughly $13,710 (excluding fees and commissions).

But if you had invested $10,000 in each of the low-risk companies recommended above in Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter, your profit would be $64,740.

With Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter at your side, you would have pocketed an "extra" $51,000 in cash.

I hope you're as excited as I am about increasing your wealth with these ultra-safe value stocks. Before you decide whether they're right for you, consider these amazing facts:

- ✓ In the past 45 years, value stocks have outperformed growth stocks by an average of 9% per year.
- ✓ Benjamin Graham himself achieved returns of 20% per year regularly for more than 40 years using these principals.
- ✓ Our two Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter portfolios have achieved annualized gains of 22.03% over five years and 17.17% over twelve years, respectively, since inception.

The Best Wealth Advisory Ever? You Decide.

What makes Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter different from -- and in my opinion, superior to -- other investment advisories?

Like Benjamin Graham, I believe in a margin of safety -- buying companies that are cheap relative to their intrinsic value. Using Graham's criteria, I figure out the optimum "buy" price for you.

Like Benjamin Graham, I believe in research. To achieve returns of at least 20% a year, I screen a database of more than 1,700 stocks. You'll get only companies with solid balance sheets and track records of success.

Like Benjamin Graham, I believe that the secret to building wealth during economic downturns is to buy low and stay fully invested.

Now you might be thinking: sounds good, Roy, but what can I really expect? Ok, let me show you Cabot Benjamin Graham Value Letter in action with these actual recommendations ripped right from our pages:

39% Gain In A Few Weeks

Ceradyne (CRDN) develops and manufactures a line of technical ceramic products and parts for defense, industrial, automotive and commercial applications in the United States.

It developed advanced armor for soldiers made of lightweight ceramic. Not surprisingly, one of its biggest customers was the U.S. government.

The conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan created an increased need for its products. Despite this demand, many analysts forecast a major slowdown for Ceradyne. In 2007, they predicted a lower EPS growth for the year ahead.

We disagreed.

When we looked closely at the numbers, we saw something else. In the first quarter of 2007, new orders increased by 14% and revenue was up 38%. To top it off, the company had just perfected a new armored vehicle, called BULL.

Instead of a downturn, we believed that the company was undervalued and would surprise investors with better than expected sales earnings.

We recommended Ceradyne in June 2007. Within weeks, investors saw shares shoot up 39%. Readers who invested a mere $10,000 pocketed a total of $13,900.

56% Return On Your Money

Total System Services (TSS) provides electronic payment processing and services to merchants and non-financial parties. It's the world's largest processor of credit and debit card transactions.

But when Bank of America announced that it would not renew its contract with TSS, the stock dropped. With that much loss in business, Wall Street began ringing the death knell.

We took a different view.

First, TSS had a history of increasing its earnings per share every year for 110 consecutive years. Second, it carried little debt: only about $10 million on annual earnings of $256 million.

Finally, there was a good management team in place. In the past decade, they delivered a 19.5% return on retained earnings for shareholders.

We believed that TSS was oversold. We advised readers to buy at the reduced price in December 2005. In less than two years, shares of TSS increased by 56%.

Investors turned $20,000 into a total $31,200 before selling in May 2007.

Triple-Digit Gains That Other Investors Miss

Standard Pacific Corp. (SPF) is a major U.S. homebuilder. The company also provides mortgage financing and title services through its subsidiaries and joint ventures.

When we recommended SPF in February 2003, the company had been riding the building boom for the past seven years. In the past five years, it had experienced more than 30% earnings per share growth.

We strongly urged investors to buy because the stock was a bargain at six times EPS and one times book value.

Many investors were unsure that the building boom would continue. We disagreed. We accurately predicted the boom would continue for at least another two years.

We were so confident, we advised subscribers to buy even more shares if the stock price dipped.

From February 2003 through January 2005, SPF gained 169.2%. The building boom ended six months later -- but not before readers turned every $25,000 into a total $67,300.

Of course, not every recommendation will be a home run. There isn't a single wealth advisory in the world with a perfect batting average and we're no exception. We dropped 19.3% in the Kellwood Company and 24% in Health Management Associates.

But when we suffer the occasional loss, our winners more than make up for them. In fact, subscribers are protected by my Risk Reduction System: The minute I see one of our recommendations heading for a fall, I send an urgent "sell" order to keep our losses to a bare minimum.

But enough about others. What about you? Are you ready to shelter your money from the coming market crises? Are you ready to earn returns like 48% ... 53% ... 62% ... 107% and more in undervalued companies that Wall Street never tells you about and that other investors never hear about? Great!
